Dee Rommel, artist, is a native Oregonian. She has always loved the beauty of nature surrounding her and possesses a passion for creating ways to express it through art. As a painter, she works in several media as she enjoys the variety and experimenting. She has studied art through the years by taking classes and workshops, and continues this as she says she never wants to stop learning. She has been attracted towards expressing herself both artistically and musically. Dee works in oils, watercolors, mixed media, collage, and acrylics. Because she enjoys experimenting her work spans from impressionistic to abstract using various materials. Dee is active in the community with her art as a member of six art groups. She shows and sells her work in galleries and shows in the area. Most recently she was represented for the month of February at the Beaver Tales Exhibit in the Guistina Gallery at OSU in Corvallis. Dee is also a member of the saxophone section in Lake Oswego Millennium Concert Band.

Shari Burgess is Artist-Owner of The Twisted Wyre in Tigard, Oregon. While Shari is the main artist, her husband Bob is the lapidary and provides the beautiful cabochons she uses as the main focal point for many of her pieces. Using cabochons as well as other mediums such as local sea glass and crystals, she creates beautiful pendants, earrings and rings. Every piece is an original, handmade, wearable piece of art. She and her husband also do customized pieces for individuals wanting to be involved in the creative process from the rock slab to the kind of metal used, ensuring a very personal piece of jewelry.

Shari is a native Oregonian and grew up in Southern Oregon but has called Tigard home for the last 14 years.
